"Predatory Poverty" Tiger on the Prowl

WHY does a newspaper at times adopt an editorial policy that is bitterly unpopular with large sections of the population?

For this reason alone: Either we are going to be unpopular now because we oppose what a great many people say they want; or we are going to be unpopular later on with ALL THE PEOPLE when we, along with other business houses, kick up the price of our newspaper to absorb a crushing load of taxation.

None but a fool runs away from a fight when the choice is merely now or later. And while you may find fault with our language today you won't question our truth tomorrow.

I am speaking, this moment, on what threatens to be a test vote between the paupers and the citizens of Arkansas. There is being proposed—and it seems certain to go on the general election ballot next November—the Rotenberg bill to pay pensions to the aged and the blind of $50 a month, and to take the necessary money out of the sales tax revenue. It is simply a case of paupers voting public money to themselves, and it is an unparalleled piece of impudence to so arrange the law of our state that this thing is possible and to demand that a newspaper editor discuss it.

The State Welfare Commissioner attacked the Rotenberg bill Wednesday, but your newspaper has pointed out for many years the danger of initiated acts offered the people without debate in the legislature. And now at last the danger has come upon us—a time when paupers come out in the open and demand rather than ask, take rather than receive.

This newspaper led the editorial fight for the sales tax to aid the schools and the old folks. But we worked through the legislature as the accredited agent of representative government.

It is the legislature's business to compare the needs of all the people, and to distribute tax revenue among them as seems feasible and just.

But when any one group holds up before the people and says, "We take all," then the fundamental purpose of government has failed for the whole object of government is prevent people voting public money to themselves.

Either the state is going to have to repeal the initiative part of the Initiative & Referendum Law, or else restrict the right to vote.

Government can not carry on under this burden.

One thing you should not forget: government derives its powers from the consent of the governed.

That does not mean merely a majority of votes. It means the consent of property owners also, for it is always optional with property whether to pay a fair share of the public tax or go to great lengths to beat it.

Your newspaper is infuriated by the Rotenberg bill because it is obvious that every old couple who would draw $100 a month under the terms of this bill have scores of able-bodied kinsmen who would vote for the bill in order to "sponge" on the old folks.

This isn't "law"—it is a pauper madhouse.

A generation ago "Uncle Joe" Pulitzer dedicated his great Democratic journal the New York World to fight predatory plutocracy and predatory poverty.

The pauper tiger is on the prowl.

Easter Service Is Fast Approaching

Regular Hour Church Services to Follow 6:30
Sunrise Event

In the second annual Easter sunrise service, the people of Hope have two magnificent opportunities open to them.

The first of these is the fact that this Easter meeting is planned as a distinct religious service for the entire city of Hope and its environs. It comes at an hour to avoid a conflict with any of the services planned by the cooperating churches.

It is to be understood that all regular church services will be held Sunday.

It offers Hope citizens the opportunity to express community-wide interest and cooperation in a project of a distinctly religious and worshipful nature. It is an inter-denominational meeting. Its purpose is to magnify, in the early minutes of the Easter morning, the Risen Christ who makes Easter possible. Sectarian discriminations will be obscured in the worship of the Christ who is "no respecter of persons."

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—A demand for $100,000 accompanied by a threat against the life of W. P. Federal agents and other law enforcement officials were seeking author of the note hoping for a "break" in the case which had its inception with delivery of the massive to the road's city ticket office in Minneapolis a week ago.

Federal operatives advised Kennedy to follow instructions and place a personal advertisement in Twin Cities papers which read: "H. M. We agree to your proposition, F. P." Agents, augmented by railroad detectives and police, took up strategic positions in Minneapolis the past several days but without any results.

Roosevelt Sends Vast New Spending Bill to Congress

Proposes 5 Billions Spending—2 Billions Bank
Expansion

THREEFOLD PLAN

WPA, FSA, NYA, CCC
and RFC to Handle Bulk of "Recovery" Funds

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt proposed Thursday a 7-billion-dollar recovery program, embracing 5 billions of federal spending and lending, and 2 billions expansion of banks.

He set forth to congress the measures by which he said the government could "help to start an upward spiral," and summoned "a united national will" for a vigorous attack on the recession.

The president divided his program, designed to start national income upward again, into three groups of measures. The first involved mainly additional appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1. It was:

$1,250,000,000 for the WPA; $175,000,000 for FSA; $75,000,000 for NYA; $50,000,000 for CCC; $1,500,000,000 made available to RFC for lending to business enterprises.

In the second group of measures the president asked:

$300,000,000 for immediate expansion of housing and slum-clearance work of the United States Housing Authority; $1,450,000,000 for public works loans and grants; and additional $100,000,000 for public roads; an additional $37,000,000 for flood control and reclamation projects already authorized; and an additional $25,000,000 for federal buildings.

The third group listed referred to private credit. It involved devaluation of $1,400,000,000 of gold, and the reduction by the Federal Reserve Board of member bank requirements which would add another $750,000,000 to the credit resources of the nation's banks.

With these actions, the president coupled a simplification of the Security Commission regulations to expedite small-business financing.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt, ready to ask congress for recovery and relief funds reportedly totaling $2,750,000,000, laid details of his program before members of the congressional Appropriations Committee Wednesday and asked their approval.

Whatever approval was given was said to have been unanimous, for among those who attended was Senator Glass (Dem. Va.) chairman of the Senate Appropriation Committee, who has been an outspoken critic of large government expenditures. Asked by reporters if he was satisfied with the president's program, Glass replied:

"You will see when I vote on it." Senator Barkley, Democratic leader, told reporters after the conference:

"We discussed with the president the message which will be delivered Thursday as soon as both houses meet. I can't discuss the details with you, but

He Asks . . . These Leaders to Push Congressional Grant of Billions Which . . . These Two Must Provide . . . To Be Spent, Combatting Slump, by Agencies These Men Control . . . And by WPA

The federal government has set out to kick the recession—and here are the men who are tackling the tremendous job. At the extreme left is President Roosevelt in a characteristically vigorous pose. He has launched a spending drive to cost $1,500,000,000 (maybe even more) which he hopes will prime the pumps of recovery and inject new impetus into business. But the President cannot accomplish the gigantic and complicated red a spending drive to cost about 7 billion dollars which he "Big Four" in Congress—Vice President John Nance Garner, president of the Senate, Speaker William B. Bankhead of the House; Majority Leader Alben Barkley of the Senate, and Majority Leader Sam Rayburn of the House. After these aides have pushed the gigantic appropriations and authorizations through Congress—and they promised to do just that—money must be raised to cover the grants. That's where Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau and Budget Director Daniel Bell come into the picture. It is assumed they will borrow money on the government's credit to foot the bill. With the appropriations approved and money provided, the men shown at the right of the strip of pictures above will be the ones to spend the cash in such a way that it will aid business. Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, extreme right, will supervise spending of the $1,250,000,000 contemplated for WPA relief. Others who helped the President plan the drive—and who may help spend part of the money—are Housing Administrator Nathan Straus; First Assistant Secretary of Interior Ebert K. Burlew; Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, and Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald.

We Who Are About to Testify

DURING questioning of an elderly-looking witness in a Cleveland court it turned out that the man on the stand was 103 years old, and never had been in a courtroom before.

What a pity that the newspaper account of the trial didn't go as deeply into the case of the witness as it did into the case on trial! He was not even asked what he believed to be responsible for his remarkable longevity.

The answer probably would have been that he had kept away from witness stands for 103 years. That probably would have accounted also for the fact that he still retained most of his hair.

MORE than one man has had his life span materially shortened by a courtroom experience thrust upon him as an innocent bystander, and more than one man has grown bald faster after permitting an overzealous attorney to grab him by whatever hair he had at the time.

The badgering of witnesses for the sole purpose of attempting to make them appear incompetent is fortunately a practice which capable judges are vigorous in fighting, but despite the co-operation of reputable attorneys such tactics continue to compose the bulk of the courtroom repertoire of the not-so-reputable.

It should be emphasized that serving as a witness is one of the duties which the privileges of citizenship carry along with them, and exposure to the possibility of courtroom embarrassment does not quite constitute sufficient moral ground for evading that duty. But the bench and the bar cannot expect anything like a stampede of the citizenry to the witness stand while such conditions obtain. Voluntary submission to public indignities is not among citizenship's obligations.

The Cleveland witness would do well to start going to bed earlier from now on, watch his diet, and take up the practice of giving what hair he has remaining an occasional olive oil shampoo.

Street Scene

WHAT with all the outward aspects of our daily life becoming so thoroughly "functionalized," "streamlined," and "stripped of non-essentials," it's getting so a man can't have any fun at all any more.

Something in the soul cries very distinctly for an adequate supply of non-essentials... just a little curlicue here and there, once in a while. Nothing at all in the soul cries for a return to what might be called "The Embroidered Age," but it would add to the excitement of streamlined metropolitan scenery if a person could occasionally encounter... say... such a phenomenon as a strong-man performing in the ultra-modern window of a Bonnet Shop Moderne.

Take wooden Indians. Somebody did take them. They not only provided a pleasant distraction for the eye during a lunch-hour stroll, but made it easy to distinguish a cigar store from a beauty shop.

Those pitiful lost tribes cannot, of course, be brought back now from their celestial hunting grounds, but something can be done about the bare spots in front of the cigar stores. Would it be too much to suggest that these vacant sidewalk posts be turned over, together with their responsibilities, to the men who would otherwise be spending the coming summer months sitting on flag poles or roller-skating from New York to San Francisco?

Anyway, what the tidvers-up of metropolitan street scenery ought to keep reminding themselves as they go along is that most people enjoy nothing so much in the way of scenery as something to look at.

Best Methods of Care For Rheumatic Child

Rheumatic attacks of all sorts frequently begin with a sore throat. For that reason a sore throat in a rheumatic child must be considered a serious symptom.

Whenever a child complains of sore throat, of pains in the muscles, of severe pain on moving the joints; whenever a child appears to be extraordinarily pale, to be short of breath with slight activity and to be exceedingly fatigued or nervous, the physician and the parents must anticipate the possibility of a rheumatic condition. Take the necessary steps at once to determine the diagnosis and to relieve that condition, if possible, to avoid damage to the heart.

The occurrence of chorea or St. Vitus' dance is generally recognized as a symptom of a rheumatic condition and should also cause a prompt investigation as to the condition of the heart. Obviously the removal of infected tonsils and adenoids is an important step in the preservation of rheumatic heart disease.

Rheumatic children should sleep in the sunniest and driest rooms that are available. They should be guarded against undue exposure to the weather, particularly in the fall and winter months. They should get plenty of rest, being put to bed early each night. They should also have a nap during the day if they seem at all tired or if there is any aching of the limbs. The child with a tendency toward rheumatic heart disease should also be guarded against physical activity in school and in the home.

Once rheumatic heart disease has developed, the most important of all methods of treatment is rest. In very serious cases the child is not permitted

ISOBEL VOITRETT, traveler; she sought a mate.

Yesterday, Mrs. Porter interferred again, inviting Dick to judge a swimming match. And how look almost lost Joyce to take part with Dick.

CHAPTER VIII

DOWN in her cabin a pleasant surprise greeted Joyce's eyes. In the center of the room, on a dress hanger hooked through the fan, was her white dress, spotless and pressed as if it had never known a drop of water.

She tried the dress on, praying that it had not shrunk. But no; if there was any shrinkage, the stewardess had stretched it out. It fitted smoothly as ever. No one would ever guess that it had spent many hours in the Bermuda harbor.

So Joyce went up to dinner with a light heart, proof against Mrs. Porter's frigid charm and Isobel's sophisticated poise.

Dick, she noticed, was developing a nasty cold, sneezing and sniffing and gasping, yet all the while trying to persuade the doctor that he never had a cold in his life—not a real cold.

But before the meal was over he left the dining room, taking his sneezes with him so that the others might enjoy their own dinner in quiet. As long as he sat there, they waited expectantly, holding their breath, for each new outbreak.

SO it was Mr. Gregory who took Joyce up to the dance on deck, and perhaps, she decided, that was as it should be because she was wearing his flowers.

After the first dance Captain Boyer came forward to claim Joyce.

"The only trouble," he remarked gallantly, as he proved himself a more-than-capable master of the waltz, "is that there are so many lovely young ladies that we can't dance with all of them."

Joyce laughed, enjoying the moment. "Why not try a Paul Jones?" she suggested carelessly. "You'd get around more."

"A Paul Jones?" Captain Boyer searched his memory for the meaning of it. Then recalling, he added brightly: "Of course, that's the dance we all change partners, isn't it? Why didn't I think of it before?"

As the dance ended, he went over and made the suggestion to the orchestra leader before returning Joyce to her table.

Gaily the orchestra leader blew a whistle and called the changes: "Single line, now, and MARCH! Hands on shoulders!" "Ladies right, gentlemen left!" "Find your partners!"

Faster and faster the music was stepped up; more and more hilariously became the dancing. Joyce went through the changes, her cheeks flushed, smiling in bright abandon because she did not realize that anything so gay as a Paul Jones might bring its difficulties.

THEN Joyce, stepping along merrily hand over hand, looked down the line of approach, finding men and caught her breath.

"Lord!" she thought, "look what's coming!" For there, directly in front of her, just one man removed now, was pudgy Mr. O'Hara, still swaying unsteadily but beaming assuredly under a Napoleonic hat of vivid red.

Now she was in Mr. O'Hara's arms, and he, unmindful of the routine of the dance, took quick advantage of the situation. He led her out of the circle, stepped her into a brisk, old-time two-step. Presently the whistle did sound, and the others resumed the dancing, so there was nothing to do but enjoy these few moments of Mr. O'Hara's brief abandonment.

"That's the little girl!" he approved heartily. "Well show 'em. Boy, you're some! I'll stepper, baby!"

In between his casual remarks, his lusty voice would now and then be raised exuberantly, in tune and out of tune, to the orchestra's selection.

After the first few steps, Joyce forgot to worry about him. Let him have his fun, she thought, with a bit of Aunt Martha's philosophy. After all, he doesn't have much chance, not with Old Pickle-Puss always behind him.

The whistle sounded once more, and the dancers fell into a line of march. But not Mr. O'Hara. "Think I'm going to change partners now?" he demanded.

"No, sir—e-e-e!" So they kept up a little dance of their own, a dance which was a bit of a two-step, and something of a fox-trot, and not at all unlike an Alabama cake-walk.

And the others who danced turned to look at them, and those who sat at nearby tables laughed appreciatively, and Joyce laughed too because—well, what of it?

INTO a circle the dancers formed, and Mr. O'Hara continued his little specialty in the

Every Child Needs Some Religious Training

(No. 64)
When a small child utters his ideas openly about all manner of things, why do so many people get stitches in their sides? The child's sober little thoughts are repeated with winks and, not being deaf, dumb or blind, he soon learns to keep his thoughts to himself. Why is he so funny, for example, when he says his prayers, he wonders?

He takes religion seriously, and applies it far better than we do. To him God is someone to make a real hero of, and he talks to God as he would to a person. Be careful of smiling at his peculiar confidences. He isn't ready to grasp the idea of a spirit.

I don't mean to preach or get into a maze of phrases. I merely wish to show that our little boy or girl should be encouraged at four or five to hold a faith in a power that he cannot see, hear or touch. The mystery of God will cling, even though the conception of God may change.

Every child should be given his chance to develop this religious sense, according to the family faith. Start him to Sunday school, or Church school, as it is mostly called now. Give him the encouragement he needs.

This is only fair. If, in later life, he follows through with independent ideas of his own, selecting and discarding the values of early creeds, this is his privilege. But it is wrong to dry up the fountain of his spirit at the source. I, for one, believe. Many parents who have settled the matter of God to their own satisfaction, negatively, still feel that it is only right to with failure to stop the Japanese invasion of Manchuria; was accelerated by its inability to stop Hitler in the Rhineland, and next, Mussolini and Ethiopia. More recently, of course, the Chinese, Spanish and Austrian crises have served to push the league even further into its own grave.

But the saga of Geneva goes back beyond these events. George Slocombe, veteran British journalist plumbs the whole tragic story in his book, "A Mirror to Geneva" (Henry Holt; $3). Wilson, Clemenceau, Mussolini, Eden, Briand, Stresemann, Curzon, Litvinoff pass in review before Mr. Slocombe's discerning view.

The result is a sharp indictment of Europe's statesmen whose suspicions, petty bickerings and secret diplomacy have brought the Old World to its present crisis. "Typical case," cites Mr. Slocombe, "were the friendly conversations of Briand and Stresemann which, were it not for the snarl of selfish politics, might very easily have brought Germany and France together, forestalling the rise of Adolf Hitler."

"A Mirror to Geneva" is a penetrating picture and decidedly worth reading as a frank portrait of a great experiment in history.—P. G. F.

give their child his particular chance. There has been a world-wide drive against religious teaching. This we all know. But there is still another group of intellectuals who recommend delay until adolescence, when intelligence will help the child to a clearer view. This is too late, surely. I cannot see either the reason for or the gain in this method. So many parents today think "Now I lay me," frightens children. It may—some children. Then change it and make up a happier one of your own for them to say.

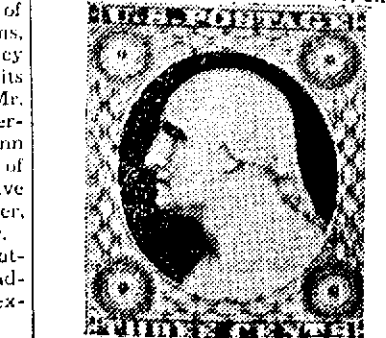

STORIES IN STAMPS
WASHINGTON ON FIRST THREE-CENT STAMP

EVEN after the adoption of the 1851 reduced rates of U. S. postage, the sale of the first full series lagged. Agitation continued for uniform rates. Not until 1863, however, was such legislation passed, abolishing the element of distance in charges. The rate was set at 3 cents for all letters weighing less than one-half ounce. In 1883 this was further reduced to two cents.

Meantime other innovations in the American postal system came; stamped envelopes in 1852; postal cards in 1872; double or reply cards in 1879; faster trains and additional thousands of post offices to expedite communications.

The three-cent stamp fast led in use, of course. The profile of Washington, after Houdon, was portrayed on the 1851 stamp, brick red, reproduced below, one and one-half times actual size. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

Story of Jewish Patriot to Be Filmed

HOLLYWOOD.—The Warner Brothers, who like to keep abreast of the news with their picture-making, have reached back more than a century and a half into history for a story that is especially timely today.

It is the story of Haym Salomon, American patriot, Jew, refugee from Europe, and the financial savior of the United States during the Revolution. It has current significance because this country again is offering sanctuary to persecuted people in search of liberty.

Actually there is no very close parallel. It was because they sought political and social freedom, but not because they were Jews, that Salomon's parents fled from Portugal to Poland and he later came from Poland to America. There was no shadow of the swastika over Europe in that more enlightened day.

Inevitably, though, the picture will assume additional meaning through the facts of Salomon's race and the oppression of his race in other countries. It should be a good piece of history for Americans to ponder on; and Hitler, if he sees it, will hate it. Of course the film will not be exhibited publicly in Germany. Warner Brothers have not tried to exhibit any of their products there for several years.

American History Rich

Hoopa patriotic propaganda with George M. Cohan music and flag wavings in Technicolor, will not be acceptable screen fare until we get into another war. But it does seem that this might be a good time for the graphic retelling of certain precepts which are becoming pretty muddled in our national thinking. Any studio that's willing to forget the foreign market, which is little better than a headache anyway, can find a lot of stirring and important stories in American history.

It was a play, produced about 16 years ago, which set Writer-Director Actor Crane Wilbur to thinking and reading about Haym Salomon. He has been conducting research intermittently ever since, and probably knows more of the facts than anybody else alive. He is so full of the subject that he almost tells it in screen-play form, although he only now is beginning to write the script.

Salomon's Story
"There are two lucky things about the story," Wilbur said. "One is that Salomon was only 32 when he arrived in New York. That gives us a chance to use a fairly young man, probably Claude Rains. Another thing is that Salomon wasn't at all a mere money man. If he was a fanatic, it was for freedom. In Poland he was an intimate of Pulaski and Kosciuszko and helped plan the Polish revolution against Russia. He was driven out, and chose to come to America."

"In New York he became a ship broker and built a considerable fortune. As the war came he began to work as a spy for Washington, was arrested twice and sentenced to be shot."

But he was spared and forced to work as an interpreter between the British and Hessians. He kept right on sending out valuable information, and again he was caught and condemned.

"In the old Sugar House Prison, Salomon recited a Psalm for the comfort of another man who was waiting to be executed. It was Nathan Hale. I told you there was a lot of drama in this thing! Salomon later escaped, went to Philadelphia and built up another fortune."

"The time came when wholesale mutiny threatened the American army. Soldiers were deserting because their families were starving. Washington sent a courier to ask Salomon for $400,000, and the courier found him at the synagogue on the eve of Yom Kippur. Salomon got $100,000 from the congregation. He said something like this: 'We are not fighting for ourselves, but that our children may know true liberty and may have the good sense to preserve it.'"

"Next day he made up the balance of the money and sent it to Washington in gold. Neither he nor his heirs ever got back a dime of it. When he died, at 45, leaving $150 to his wife and children, the Philadelphia Journal said only this: 'On Thursday there died Haym Salomon, broker.'"

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of kidney tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 quarts a day of about 4 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys and filters. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of a serious backache, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, backaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give long relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The Coming Of The Trees
"Let trees be made for Earth is bare," Spoke the Voice of the Lord in thunder.
The roots ran deep and the trees were there,
And Earth was full of wonder.

For the white birch leaned, the oak held straight,
The pine: marched down the mountain.
The hands bowed with their blossom weight
And the clouds rose up like a fountain.

The palm stood proud as Aaron's rod,
The willow followed slowly;
So came the tree at the call of God,
And all the trees are holy.

To Form Dramatic Club on Monday

Federal Dramatic Experts Will Aid Organizing Local Group

On Monday night at Hope municipal auditorium there will be a meeting to form a community dramatic club. At this meeting, which will begin at 8 several out-of-town people will be present to help in the organization. J. H. Crosslet, state director of recreation for the Works Progress Administration, and Edward Borders, dramatic specialist, will speak.

Mr. Borders, who is a graduate and former dean of the Boston School of Oratory, has been instrumental in organizing similar dramatic groups all over the state.

Each club is self-governing and has local officers and directors. The club also has the privilege of being a member of the Arkansas Federation of Drama Leagues and competing in the annual One-Act-Play tournament sponsored each year by that organization.

Membership in this new organization is not to be limited to actors only, but will be open to anyone interested in any phase of dramatics, be it marionettes, puppets, costumeing, stage setting, or any like stage-craft. So in an organization of this nature persons who have not the natural talent for acting might still be very talented in designing a stage, or some other technical phase of dramatics. Thus there is a place for many persons who are not actors in a set-up of this kind.

If there are too many prospective members for the efficient operation of one club, there is a possibility that two groups can be formed. A person must be at least 16 years of age to belong to this club. There will probably be no membership fee.

Ann Lile, accompanied by her teacher, Mrs. LaDelle Ogburn gave two dance numbers, and several officials of the organization spoke briefly. The delegation attended a tea during the afternoon at the Van Leell home on Lake Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Milam and daughter, Eva Jean have returned from a visit with relatives and friends in Muskogee, Okla. They were accompanied home by Mr. Milam's mother, Mrs. B. F. Milam.

Miss Lenora Routon, who is majoring in journalism in the Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, arrived Wednesday night to spend the Easter vacation with her mother, Mrs. Ralph Routon and other home folks.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Morrow to Frank L. Padgett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Padgett. The wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening, April 13, at the Padgett home near this city. The ceremony was said in the presence of the families and a few close friends by Dr. W. R. Hamilton, pastor of the First Baptist church. The bride was attired in a modish ensemble of blue sheer with matching accessories. Following the ceremony, the guests were invited into the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with red roses and ferns, and the bride's cake was cut and served with a tempting salad course. The bride is and has been for the past few years connected with the government extension work and Mr. Padgett is a graduate of Hope High school and the South West State Teachers college, in Springfield, Mo., and for one year was a member of the Hope High school faculty. He is now a fellowship teacher in chemistry at the Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La., where he is a member of the Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity. Immediately after the informal reception, the couple left for a short motor trip through north-west Arkansas.

The Altitude Class of the First Baptist Sunday school held its regular monthly business and social meeting Tuesday evening at Fair Park, with the teachers and officers going as hostesses. Twenty-one members enjoyed a most tempting supper followed by a business period conducted by the class president, Mrs. Ed Williams, after which games were enjoyed in the recreational hall. The prizes were clever Easter novelties. Mrs. S. D. Cook is class teacher.

The Friday Music club will sponsor an Arkansas Composers program at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred R. Harrison, South Pine street, with the Emmet club as guests.

The first telephone patent was granted to Alexander Graham Bell March 7, 1876.

Swanke to Leave the Saenger

After nearly six years' residence here as manager of the Saenger theater and the new Rialto, Arthur Swanke and Mrs. Swanke will leave Hope for Texas effective May 1.

Mr. Swanke, planning for the last two years to re-enter newspaper advertising work after many years' absence, has resigned from Malco Theaters, with whom he has been for the last seven years, operating their houses at Pine Bluff and Helena before coming to Hope in the fall of 1932.

Mr. Swanke first entered business as an advertising solicitor on the Milwaukee Journal, in his home town. He came South 16 years ago to be the

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett
Must Appear Congenial as "Old Friends"

By RUTH MILLETT
Women will put up with almost any kind of escort. Not because they are easy to please but because an escort is an indispensable part of any fun a woman might have.

Women are too dependent to be choosy. But when they fold carefully earned bills and put them in two envelopes—one to pay for the evening's entertainment, the other to pay for the escort—they can say what kind of man they want. And do.

Elsie Miller, who thinks she is the only woman head of an escort service, told me that the women who call her New York office to engage an escort for the evening have very decided ideas of what they want in a man. (Even though they are to spend only one evening with him.)

The woman who hires escorts is usually over thirty and one of two types—the wife whose husband either hasn't time to take her around or flatter refuses to, and the successful career woman who likes to spend an occasional evening with a man who will listen while she talks.

Instead of asking for "a young man" as you might suppose, the women usually say they would like a man who knows something about whatever they are interested in. But they do specify "a tall man, please."

If they are going dancing, they demand a good dancer. It's bad enough to be stepped on and walked around when the man is paying for the privilege. When the woman pays she makes certain there'll be none of that.

They all expect, of course, that the man will have perfect manners. And that he will be equal to the occasion if the woman wants to introduce him as "an old friend." Women don't mind paying for a man's championship but they aren't willing to admit to their friends that they find it necessary.

Most women engaging an escort say, "Be sure to give me a man with a sense of humor." It is such a frequent demand that Miss Miller never puts an escort on her list unless she decides that he can meet the requirement.

Checking his own qualifications with those of a paid escort ought to give a man a fair idea of his amateur standing. If he compares favorably, the girl he takes out is lucky indeed. For in the escort market his company from eight until one-thirty would cost her $15.00—plus expenses.

Washington, (AP)—Representative Summers (Dem., Tex.) said "to the country" Wednesday that "the men and women of the House of Representatives are not purchasable at any price by anybody." Summers, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, made the statements in reply to a "purchase by patronage" in connection with the administration's reorganization.

"My judgment is that there was no more of that on one side than the other," Summers said. The Texan, who spoke against President Roosevelt's court reorganization bills, addressed the house on desirability of the legislative branch exercising its constitutional authority.

"The president of the United States," Summers said, "has not a chance to lead this country through turmoil and danger save as he may be assisted and aided in every possible way by the men and women in the legislative branch of the government who are attempting to support and help with the problems of this government. I think he knows that, and I think he has known it all the time."

Criticizing proposed "pump-priming" by further public works spending, the Texan said: "Anyone who has any sense at all knows we are headed for the rocks."

The president intends to follow up this communication with an address to the public by radio at 9:30 p. m. (Hope time) Thursday night. This will be his first "fireside chat" in five months, a period in which his opposition brought about the defeat of such measures as the government reorganization and wage-hour bill. It was expected that Mr. Roosevelt, in the message and speech, would return vigorously next Sunday morning. Let every person feel a definite part of responsibility in making this service a success from every standpoint. Let's show the state that Hope cooperates, not only to achieve commercial and industrial goals, but to attain high spiritual ends.

Expect Big Crowd to See Track Meet

Triangular Meet to Be Staged at Prescott Thursday Night

PRESCOTT, Ark.—The first night track and field meet in the history of Southwest Arkansas will be held here Thursday night when teams of Hope, Prescott and Arkadelphia high schools meet in a triangular affair beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

A large crowd is expected to attend. Arkadelphia is reported to have one of the strongest teams in years, the Prescott and Hope squads are large, but inexperienced. However, a good meet is expected.

Carl "Nip" Dalrymple will be referee and starter. Clay Doyle, principal of the Prescott High School, will be clerk and Coach C. H. Storey is in charge of arrangements.

Leave Here at 6:30 p. m.

The Hope High School squad will leave here at 6:30 p. m. Thursday. Coach Hammons and the team will leave from Hope Confectionery.

All persons having available space in their automobiles are urged to meet at Hope Confectionery at 6:30 p. m. and provide transportation for several members of the Hope team.

ously to the battle for his objectives. Roosevelt Signs Bill

The president signed into law Wednesday the first measure of his new recovery program—legislation authorizing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make $1,500,000,000 of long-term loans for industry and public works.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC, told reporters afterward that the loan program was under way and that the RFC expected to make loans "that banks should not be expected to provide." He said he meant loans for longer time than the banks allowed and advances secured by plant and equipment.

Jones said most of the industrial loans would be of capital investment, enabling manufacturers to carry inventories and avoid the necessity of dumping them at reduced prices.

"We want to encourage people to go ahead and produce and not feel they must sell immediately to meet their charges," he said.

Jones emphasized that the RFC did not intend to do "all the lending in the world because it wants the banks to do that."

"We want the borrower to go to the bank first," he said, "and failing to get a loan there, to ask the bank to take it up with the RFC."

The new law permits the RFC to make loans for terms beyond 1945, its previous limit. It also enables the corporation to make loans to cities for self-liquidating public works projects. Jones said whatever is done under this authority would be in co-operation with any new public works program.

You'll Puff Up With Pride Over These Airy Souffles

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Service Staff Writer

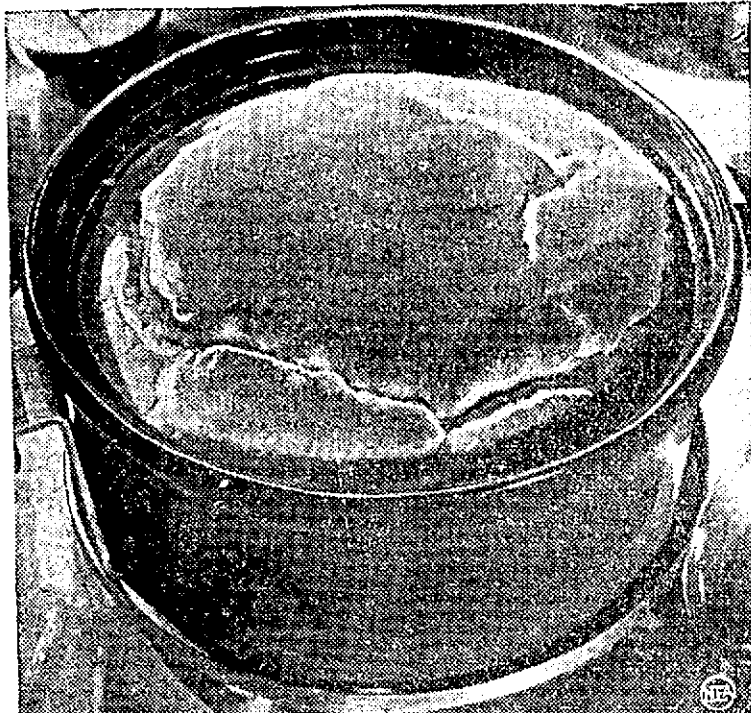

A souffle will lift the spirits while it settles the luncheon problem. It takes less art than cougoue to make, especially with simplified recipes. Don't guess. Follow your recipe.

Tomato-Cheese Souffle

(Serves 4 to 6)

Two tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup milk,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup condensed tomato soup,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup grated cheese,  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon dry mustard, 4 eggs, separated, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Melt the butter, add the flour and cook until frothy. Then add the hot milk and cook until thoroughly thickened. Stir in the tomato soup and the grated cheese and heat until the cheese is melted. Remove from fire and add the mustard and egg yolks—adding one egg yolk at a time and beating thoroughly after the addition of each egg yolk. Add Worcestershire. Beat the egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and fold them into the mixture. Pour into a well greased casserole and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes, or until firm in the center.

Asparagus Souffle

(Serves 4 to 5)
Four eggs, 1 can condensed asparagus soup, seasoning to taste.

Heat the asparagus soup. Then add one egg yolk at a time and mix thoroughly after each addition. Beat the egg whites until stiff, but not dry.

Fold them into the souffle, pour into a greased casserole and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for one hour. Put the casserole in a pan of hot water while baking.

Celery and Salmon Souffle

(Serves 6)

One can (16 ounces) salmon, 1 tablespoon lemon juice,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon pepper, 1 can thick celery soup, 1 16 teaspoon cayenne pepper, 4 eggs, separated.

Drain the salmon, then pick out the bones and dark skin; season with lemon juice and pepper and mash with a fork. Stir in the celery soup, add cayenne, and heat. Remove from fire and add egg yolks, adding one egg yolk at a time and beating thoroughly after each addition. Beat the egg whites until stiff, but not dry, fold the egg whites into the celery and salmon mixture. Pour into a buttered casserole and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) from 50 to 60 minutes. Place the baking dish in a pan of hot water while baking.

CHICK FACTS

Brooder houses don't grow. Chicks do. Many poultrymen try to start too many chicks for the size of their house and consequently lose many chicks at seven or eight weeks due to crowding and smothering. A chick doubles its size in four weeks which means that day-old chicks should have twice as much room as they need in order for them to have normal space as they grow. A ten-by-twelve brooder house will accommodate 250 to 300 day-old chicks.

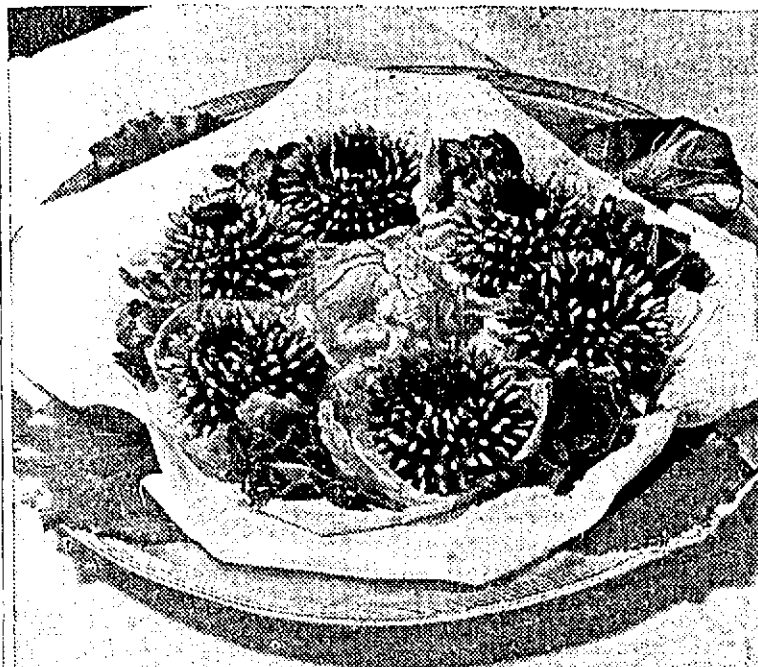

Chicks at four weeks develop enormous appetites, which is perfectly normal. Good chicks weighing 10 ounces at 4 weeks should weigh 20 ounces at 6 weeks. Where management conditions are of the best, and where chicks have good feed and sufficient room and water, they will double their weight between the fourth and sixth week. Purina Startena, fortified with Puratene, provides chicks with an abundance of Vitamin A to make this jump. Startena is completely balanced and blended so that chicks get every ingredient they need in the exact amount they need to make rapid, healthy growth.

A one-gallon drinking fountain and two feet of hopper space should be provided for every 50 chicks. Contagious diseases and infection are spread through drinking water. To guard against this chance of infection one-quarter teaspoon of Purina Chlorina Powder should be added to each gallon of drinking water. Drinking fountains and feeding hoppers should be washed daily in a disinfectant solution made of two teaspoons of Chlorina powder in three gallons of water.

Chick weight standards show the average chick to weigh 11 or 12 ounces at six weeks. Actual records from the Purina Experimental Farm where thousands of chicks are raised each year show that chicks fed on a complete, balanced starting feed fortified with additional Vitamin A in the form of Puratene weigh 10 to 20 ounces at six weeks.

The cause of infectious bronchitis among poultry is unknown at present, but effective methods of treatment are now available. Chicks that reach forward gasping for air, with mouth wide open, show definite symptoms of bronchitis. A lump of mucus in the end of the windpipe may shut off breathing entirely and cause a strangling convulsion. Early detection of infectious bronchitis is the surest way of saving birds. If allowed to run, twenty to fifty percent of the stock may die in a short while. When infectious bronchitis is present birds should be dry-sprayed with Purina Chlorina Powder each evening after they go to roost. The dry-spray method is a newly discovered treatment that has proved very satisfactory.

This Little Pig Stays Home-- on the Easter Dinner Table

Apples Cardinal are roast suckling pig's best friend. Pared and cooked in sugar syrup, they are coated with currant jelly mixed with cherry gelatin and then stuck with sliced almonds.

By MRS. JAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Service Staff Writer

Little squeals of delight greet a roast suckling pig. With a bright red apple in its mouth and a bed of crisp green watercress to make it comfortable, the tender piglet makes a perfect Easter dinner novelty.

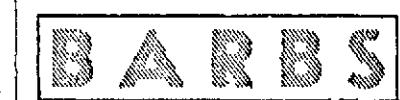

Of course there many How-to-Roast-a-Suckling-Pig Schools. For this occasion we'll make Chief Boggia of the Hotel Plaza, New York, Professor of the Day.

He says: "You'll have to order your pig in advance for you seldom find little pigs in the average market. Get one from 12 to 15 pounds. At retail they command about 60 to 75 cents a pound. But they are a real delicacy!" The Professor continues:

Roast Suckling Pig

"The pig will come cleaned. Wash well inside and out with clear water. Stuff with the following dressing, sew up the vent with strong linen thread or white cord. Place in a pan spread over with a little fat, season with salt and a little white pepper, cover and roast in a medium oven (375 degrees F.) for 2 1/2 hours, basting every 15 minutes with the drippings in the pan. Pig's mouth should be opened and a potato inserted. After roasting, remove the potato from the pig's mouth and place in it a small apple. Remove pig to a hot platter and garnish with tufts of fresh watercress."

Dressing:
One loaf white bread, sweet milk, 12 medium onions, 4 tablespoons butter, 8 small pimientos (2 small cans), 8 green peppers, 2 tablespoons finely minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon celery salt, 1 teaspoon pepper. Soak bread in milk. Press out sur-

Congressmen have been enjoying samples of the products of other congressmen, including grapefruit, apples, oysters, cheese and champagne. But most of them admit they still like political plums best.

The candidate for the California governorship who spent a five-day jail term making speeches to follow-up prisoners no doubt regrets he can't always have an audience who will be sure to stay with him.

Germany provides "marriage loans" so that young couples may wed early. Probably, in its economic stress, hoping that two can live as cheaply as one.

"First Nighter" Lady Heads Margot Cast

Barbara Luddy, famous leading lady of "The First Nighter" radio program, can now be heard on her first daytime show. She has the title role in "Margot of Castlewood," a fifteen-minute N. B. C. morning program.

As Margot, Miss Luddy lives an exciting life. She goes to Hollywood to seek a career, receives a marriage proposal from a director, is kidnapped by a gambling king, and is held captive in a lonely mountain cabin after an airplane crash. Her love is torn between her childhood sweetheart, Michael Dorell, who owns her little bungalow on Main Street, and Anthony Link, the gambler who promises her adventures in foreign countries.

A "controlling interest" in Margot's life is the interest of local "Gru" who mixes the wisdom of her 79 years with her keen sense of humor and surprises everyone with her modern ideas.

Barbara Luddy

Basil Loughrane acts the part of "Michael." Malcolm Meacham plays "Anthony Link," and Ethel Owen has the role of "Gru." The show can be heard from 9:15 to 9:30 a. m. C. S. T. Monday through Friday on the N. B. C. Blue Network. It is sponsored by the Quaker Oats Company. The fifteen-minute variety show, "Aunt Jemima at the Crossroads," which precedes "Margot" is also a Quaker Oats production.

The Man With the Hoe

For a sheet of color on a wall, fence or trellis, there's nothing so complete with the morning glory. They grow easily and quickly.

Magazines, catalogs, newspaper articles and books should be an important part of your gardening education. Do not neglect them.

Send in order early for new gladiolus bulbs. They are exhausted early with the vogue of this popular plant.

Chervil is a not herb you encounter in cook books but seldom see. It is added to parsley in flavor, but liked better by many. Plant a packet and get a new flavor in soups and stews.

The best new garden is the one planned first on paper, and set out according to plan. Use ruled paper in making the plan.

Fresh Spring Lamb Is the Lion of the Easter Dinner Menu

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

Spring lamb for Easter, of course. Then bank its flavor with greens and yellows and everything delicate to eat. This menu was designed to make you and all your Easter bunnies happy.

Roast Leg of Spring Lamb
Select a leg of spring lamb weighing 4 to 5 pounds. Wash leg of lamb and wipe with damp cheesecloth. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and dredge with flour. If desired, garlic may be rubbed on the roasting pan. Put the lamb in a very hot oven (480 degrees F.) for half an hour. Then reduce the heat to 350 degrees F., a moderate oven, adding a little water to the pan to keep roast from sticking.

maise sauce. Fold the cold Hollandaise sauce into the mayonnaise, and serve on the broccoli.

Easter Layer Cake
One-third cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, well beaten, 1/2 cup milk, 1 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoonful salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream sugar and butter well. Add eggs one at a time. Continue creaming until mixture is very light. Sift flour with baking powder and salt several times and add to mixture alternately with milk. Then add vanilla. Spread batter in three buttered layer cake tins and bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.). When baked, and layers have cooled, spread with currant jelly and place together. Ice on top and sides.

Current Mint Jelly
One glass of currant jelly, 6 tablespoons finely chopped mint leaves, 2 tablespoons finely grated orange rind. Break jelly into small pieces with a fork, being careful not to beat it. Add the mint leaves and orange rind, blending carefully. Serve with lamb.

Icing
Two cups granulated sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 cup boiling water, 2 egg whites.

Mix sugar and cream of tartar and cook in boiling water. Beat eggs stiff, being careful not to beat them too dry. Four the syrup into the whites, a little at a time, beating constantly, until mixture is light and creamy. Add vanilla. Spread.

Decorate with tiny yellow chicks made of decorative icing. Serve with orange sherbert or your favorite flavor of ice cream.

The Man With the Hoe Says

Spring lawn rebuilding will be easier if you provide a dressing of plant food. Apply it with a spreader or by hand on areas which are to be reseeded; 4 pounds for 100 square feet is usually sufficient, altho, th a small-er quantity may be advisable where the grass is fairly well established.

Wet down plant food immediately, and sow seed the next day, rolling it into the soil to assure a smooth surface. Do not sow or roll lawns when ground is soft enough to show deep heel prints.

Cubs May Win Pennant If Their Many Pilots Can Get Together

Carl Hubbell Won't Go Forever, and As the Southpaw Goes So Go Bill Terry and the Giants, Says Sports Forecaster

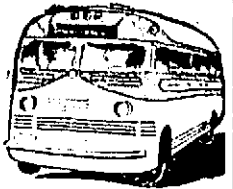

Second of two articles on the major league races.

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

The Chicago Cubs really ought to get around to winning the National League pennant this year.

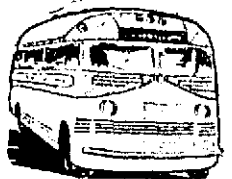

They permitted the New York Giants to back into the flag the past two falls, but should get there first this trip unless their many managers spend too much time making up their minds.

Pittsburgh, speedy and also well

N. L. PILOTS

League President to See Travelers

Little Rock's Starting Lineup Includes Five New Players

ATLANTA, (AP)—With all the fanfare and publicity so customary to attract opening day crowds, baseball will return to the Southern Association Thursday for its thirty-eighth consecutive season.

Unless guesses miss their mark, some 50,000 paying customers will set the town into their seats for the four "openers" after the usual ceremonies of having governors, mayors, movie actresses and other "prominent" get the first ball pitched.

This 1938 campaign might conservatively be called an "eight-horse" race. Generally, those who record the daily happenings for the sports pages have found it difficult to single out a favorite.

The turnover in players has been tremendous. If managers of the eight clubs stick to the "probable" lineups, 40 of the 72 players who take the field Thursday will be new men. Some are rookies and others are veterans of the baseball wars.

Major Trammell Scott, the league's new president who succeeded Judge John D. Martin at the helm after the latter's 20-year tenure, will go to Little Rock to attend the opening there between the defending champions and the New Orleans Pelicans.

As he sets out to battle for a second pennant, Manager James Thompson (Doc) Prothro faces the campaign with a Little Rock club that was riddled by trades, sales and the draft. He has rounded together a team whose starting lineup includes five new players.

Although Skipper Larry Gilbert of New Orleans believes he has a better balanced team than the one which started the 1937 campaign, he goes to the post with only two players—Catcher Greek George and Pitcher Euel Moore—as carryovers.

Chattanooga's Lookouts, loom as one of the major threats in the race. The big question there is pitching.

Nashville, with six new players in the lineup, appears to be one of the most uncertain clubs in the race, although Pilot Chuck Dressen freely third base, but his presence there enables Terry to send a more formidable batting order to the rubber.

Wally Berger may be traded to the Reds for a right-handed pitcher. Terry will continue to play 'em close to the vest, hoping that the others make enough mistakes for the Giants to prevail.

Dewalt the Dark Horse

The Cardinals are such dark horses that Frank Frisch doesn't know who will catch or play shortstop or third base. But the Red Birds have Dizzy Dean and Lon Warneke, Joe Medwick and Johnny Mize, and an unconquerable spirit.

Brooklyn is the most improved club in the second division, with an air-tight infield for a change. Burleigh Grimes is getting along better with his men.

Bill McKechnie will get the most out of a potentially great pitching staff, and has a good-looking and seasoned catcher in Willy Hernandez, who helped the Newark Bears to a 25-3 game lead in the International League and to victory in the little world series.

Boston remains a defensive club. They'll have to put props under the Phillies to keep them from falling out of the league.

It will be another tight race, but in the National that is like predicting sunshine in St. Petersburg, football in October, and a revolution in Central America.

predicts his team will be right up there.

In Atlanta, Manager Paul Richards, a young catcher, starts the campaign against Knoxville with only two new players in the lineup, the fewest changes made by the eight clubs. Atlanta will likely have a fast and better defensive club, but the hitting

The Atlanta team goes to the post against the Knoxville Smokies, a team that has made the best spring training record. The Smokies, who finished in last place a year ago, won 10 and lost four, in training and Pilot Neil Caldwell foresees a climb up from the cellar for his Knoxville team.

Much favor is found among baseball scribes for the Memphis Chickasaws, who start the ball rolling against Birmingham. The Tribe has only three new players in the lineup, stacks up well as an all-around fielding and hitting club and is well fixed for pitching.

Birmingham's weakness appears to be at the plate. The Barons have a club that includes six new players and training developments indicated the Alabama entry will be as good as the rest defensively.

Cardinals Nosed Out by Travelers

Prothro's Team Comes From Behind in Ninth to Win, 9 to 8

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—The Little Rock Travelers broke the Cardinals winning streak at ten straight Wednesday as they came from behind in the ninth inning to win, 9 to 8.

Manager Frankie Frisch started Lon Warneke, who yielded two hits and one run before Dizzy Dean batter for him in the fourth. Sherer went to the bill but was replaced by Guy Bush in the seventh.

The Southern Association champions scored four runs off Bush in the eighth and entered the last frame trailing by Approximately 6000 fans saw the one run. Merton Cooper was rushed to the mound and Nagle, the first man to be dumped a double in right field. Cooper issued two walks to lead the faces and Catcher Coble singled to drive in the tying and winning runs.

Nashville Plans Good Ball Team

Lee Allen Is Named As Manager of Team—Talent Is Sought

NASHVILLE, Ark., (AP)—This city is going to have one of the best semi-pro baseball teams in the state this season, if present prospects mean anything.

The Coca Cola Bottling company of Nashville has decided to sponsor the team this season and officials of the club are busy at present searching for talent to fill one or two holes in the lineup.

Lee Allen, who pitched for the state champion Biene Lumber company team last season, has signed to manage the team and will no doubt do quite a bit of actual playing himself. Fred Murphy has been named business manager for the season.

A pair of recent newcomers, Bill Phillips, an outfielder, and "Dude" McClain, catcher, has helped brighten the prospects for a winning club.

Outstanding infield candidates now reporting are Eulis Rosson, Gene Hallmark and Tommy Pope. These three players along with a pair of outfielders, Red Shuffield and Joe Peek, will form the nucleus for the 1938 nine.

Manager Allen has stated that his team would play any team in the state and that he was especially anxious to arrange games to be played at various dates through the summer.

LION Naturalube

THE NEW TYPE MOTOR OIL

REMOVES CARBON and ADDS POWER—STRONGER NATURAL FILM GIVES GREATER MOTOR PROTECTION

Lion Naturalube's record of gaining nationwide acceptance in less than one year establishes it as a product of unusual merit. Car owners throughout the nation quickly discovered the use of Lion Naturalube increased motor efficiency while lowering operating costs.

Lion Naturalube's quick acceptance by car owners from coast to coast is due to its rare lubricating properties: A stronger natural protective oil film and the ability to remove power-destroying hard carbon from pistons, rings, valves and spark plugs.

These remarkable qualities of Naturalube are natural characteristics—not the result of adding acids or other foreign materials. A pure, distilled motor oil, Naturalube possesses these properties because it is refined from a rare crude oil by Lion's special precision controlled refining process.

How LION NATURALUBE Saves 5 Ways

FIRST, Lion Naturalube saves the expense of frequent carbon cleaning and valve grinding because it penetrates into all parts of the motor and loosens hard carbon deposits, which are blown out through the exhaust or washed away by the oil.

SECOND, Lion Naturalube's stronger natural oil film saves the expense of repairs caused by wear by safeguarding motor parts against excessive friction.

THIRD, Lion Naturalube saves gasoline because it removes hard carbon, one of the chief causes of over-consumption of gasoline.

FOURTH, Because of its uniform viscosity (body), and greater stiffness, Lion Naturalube increases motor efficiency and saves power.

FIFTH, Lion Naturalube saves on oil purchases because it lubricates better—yet costs less than other premium quality oils.

BUY LION NATURALUBE AND SAVE FIVE WAYS: One trial of Naturalube will convince you of its ability to give you savings five ways. The next time you need motor oil—get Naturalube from the Lion dealer in your neighborhood. It's sold on a money-back guarantee.

Old City Ordinances

Cover Lots of Ground

FRESNO, Calif. — (AP) — There are 2,352 city ordinances in this town and you're liable to get into trouble when you least expect it. For instance:

Conservative

For the first time in two years France has a government which excludes the support of Communists and has limited backing from Socialists since Edouard Daladier, above, premier who succeeded Socialist Leon Blum, broke Blum's "Popular Front." The new cabinet was hailed by Rightists as a victory for anti-radical groups.

Phantom Fleet in Philippines Seen

U. S. Ships Hunt for Destroyer Fleet Suspected to Be Japs

MANILA, P. I. — (AP) — Two American destroyers, aided by two United States army bombers and two Philippine fighting planes, were said Wednesday to have started hunting for a mysterious squadron of warships reported seen in insular waters.

Reliable sources said the destroyers were diverted from a routine cruise of French Indo-China, and that the military planes had been sent from here to investigate.

The mysterious fleet, which one observer said was made up of 22 destroyers and a tender, was reported sighted Sunday and Monday in the Gulf of Davao, 600 miles south of here. Davao is the center of a right agricultural area dominated by Japanese settlers and their offspring.

Army and navy authorities remained silent. American High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt said he preferred not to comment because he lacked "complete confirmation or the identity" of the reported presence of the strange ships.

Japanese Vice Consul Jitaro Kihara said he knew nothing about any Japanese vessels in Philippine waters, adding it would be "impossible" for them to visit the islands without advance diplomatic arrangements.

Cathedral Model Built From Used Matches

MT. MORRIS, N. Y. — (AP) — Ralph Ferraro, a patient at the Mt. Morris tuberculosis hospital, has spent eight months building a model cathedral from 16,808 used safety matches collected from other persons under treatment at the hospital.

Working in bed, with a safety razor and glue as his only accessories, he completed the structure in 73 days. It is 18 inches wide, 24 inches long and 17 inches high. In one steeple is a bell operated by a bell cord from below and in the other steeple is a clock.

The interior, which is free from ornament, contains a caplet, pews and three altars fitted with altar cloths and candles. A small electric light bulb in the ceiling sheds subdued light.

Daladier Puts End to French Strikes

Munitions Employees Meet Him Halfway in Resuming Work

PARIS, France — (AP) — Premier Edouard Daladier used the prestige he won by a huge majority vote in Parliament Wednesday to send tens of thousands of strikers back to work and ended the strike movement that endangered France's social peace.

His first act after parliament granted his government extraordinary powers to rule France by decree until July 31 was to exert his authority toward settlement of the widespread industrial strikes affecting 140,000 employees and delaying France's rearmament program. Return of thousands of strikers to their jobs started the wheels turning in 25 nationalized workshops manufacturing warplanes and motors.

Strikers accepted government arbitration after Daladier told them flatly that factories working on national defense equipment would run, regardless of strikes.

The decree powers bill was approved by the senate by a vote of 383 to 1. The Chamber of Deputies earlier had favored it 508 to 12.

Publication of Parliament's authorization in the official Gazette Thursday automatically entrusts decree government to the Council of Ministers — the cabinet meeting with President Albert Lebrun.

Daladier told the senate's finance committee, when it approved his decree power bill, 35 to 0, that one of his first decrees would make a government-controlled vote of workers necessary before a strike could be called.

Metallurgical workers in nationalized factories belong to the same unions as strikers in private plants. The latter, however, displayed their willingness to return to work as well as the nationalized plant employees.

Some went back to the plants Wednesday and others began talks with employers on strike issues. Government-appointed arbitrators participated in the negotiations.
